

Hi Everybody,

Well, the last of the Sea Week blogs – until next year that is! I can't believe that we are now into September and that the kids are due to go back to school. Whatever happened to the British Summer? Oh, never mind. At least we have proved that despite the troublesome weather and troublesome bodies, some still recovering from the after effects of Covid and some still suffering from it, we can still enjoy fantastic sailing and amazing entertainment. It has been a fabulous Sea Week so thank you to everyone involved as we could quite literally not have made it happen without all of you from our RC Sailing who spent the week on the water to our RC Social & Fundraising who spent the entire week in hospital. I know where I would rather have been!

Sailing and Angling Report:

Don't forget – we are taking part again this year on Sunday 12th September!

Meet the Commodore

Speaking of the locations we would prefer to have been in, did you manage to join the Commodore for a glass of wine and try out some of those cheeses? Great spread! In fact, it was so good that I forgot to take any photos of us imbibing, experiencing and savouring. Good words those – better than drinking, devouring and pigging which would have got me into trouble!

Before the spread, Commodore Paul invited the membership outside to hear the feedback from the Club Members Satisfaction Survey circulated in July, remaining open until 15th August. Despite the sadly poor number that did reply, it was interesting to hear the feedback and gratifying to hear that some of the issues raised were already on the Managements 5 Year Plan to be dealt with.

On a personal note, I am hopeful that the fairly low numbers replying means that the rest of you are so happy with the Club that you didn't need to respond! No? Please – don't answer that!!!

Right, speaking of things that didn't go right was my losing the photo of Duncan McKensie who entertained us on Friday night. I'm told he was really good and well worth inviting back again. Sorry I missed him – blinking Covid!

Thank you to those who take photos of any events and sailing. Do keep sending them to me as they are priceless!

Another one that I missed was the performances by Malc and Elvis which, despite the stormy skies was well attended as they are very popular.

One that I did make was the performance by Change of Plan who introduced Monday afternoon for Meet the Commodore. What a good variety of songs – suits everyone's choice! Why haven't I got a voice like that? It seems that Tina's dog is a now fan of theirs! Good taste pooch.

Moving ahead into September, we are still bringing music to the Club to keep the Sailing season busy with the

Caws Brothers joining us this Saturday 4th at 4pm. They have been to us before and were really popular so do come on down and enjoy the afternoon as they will be performing indoors as the marquee has been taken down. (I did warn you – the temperature is forecast to be 21° so I bet we are going to have a second Summer!)

Have a look on our website which is linked in to them performing on video if you missed them last time.

I look forward to seeing you very soon!
